Annual Report 2013

Visiting programs in South Sudan, April 2013

Such a memorable smile! Haiti, April 2013.
Dear friends,

Warm greetings from the field!

I spend a lot of time in our headquarters offices, making sure our organizational strategy is being implemented well, and also making sure the many moving parts of this international organization are keeping time.

But I also relish my time out in the field – visiting rural schools in Haiti where we distribute drugs to prevent neglected tropical diseases, meeting women at clinics in Tanzania who have gathered for cervical cancer screenings, talking with our field teams about new innovations they are exploring to save and improve lives.

A visit to one of our health projects is always inspiring, and I always arrive back at HQ with a renewed sense of purpose and perspective. IMA’s work really matters, and there’s no better reminder than seeing our projects firsthand and meeting with partners and beneficiaries face to face.

While I wish we could take every one of you on a field visit to see your generosity, prayers, and partnership in action, we hope that IMA World Health’s Annual Report for 2013 – in field journal form – will give you a glimpse of the true spirit and impact of IMA’s work.

As you flip through this journal, I encourage you to remember that every success story can be traced back to a pair (or two) of willing hands in the field, as well as to you – our donors, partners, and friends – who make this work possible. Thank you!

Now, let’s take a little journey and explore the highlights of the past year!

In partnership,

Rick
The DR Congo

The Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC) is the second most populous country in sub-Saharan Africa with an estimated total population of 71 million people – 47% of which is under 15 years of age. The DRC is also recovering from periods of instability in the previous two decades which have affected the country’s overall access to health services.

Ushindi Project funded by USAID

Through the Ushindi Project, IMA works in partnership with the Ministry of Health and several national/international NGOs as well as community and women’s groups in eastern DRC using a holistic approach, encompassing medical, psychosocial, legal, and economic interventions to support survivors and those affected by sexual and gender based violence (SGBV).

Achievements
* Supported 17,008 survivors of SGBV.
* 15,869 survivors received psychosocial support
* 10,631 women accessed health services

ASSP Project funded by UKAID

The Access to Primary Health Care Project (ASSP) supports DRC’s National Health Development Plan by improving primary health care services in 56 health zones in the country. The five year project will improve the health of more than 8.3 million people by addressing the main causes of maternal and infant mortality.

Achievements
* In the first quarter of the project, ASSP has:
  * Delivered $7,909,757 worth of medicine and supplies
  * Vaccinated 20,305 children under 12 months old for measles
  * 18,068 pregnant women received preventative treatment for malaria

Onchocerciasis Capacity Reinforcement Project funded by the Presbyterian Church USA

IMA worked in collaboration with the Ministry of Health, African Program for Onchocerciasis Control (APOC), Mectizan Donation Program (MDP) and NGO partners to support the treatment of Onchocerciasis, a neglected tropical disease (NTD) that causes blindness.

Achievements
* Supported Mass Drug Administration to more than 1.2 million people
Local Pygmy woman champions contraceptive use in DRC

New ideas can seem intimidating and even threatening, and for women in the Democratic Republic of the Congo’s (DRC) Orientale province, the “foreign” idea of using modern contraceptives was slow to catch on. But thanks to one local Pygmy woman, IMA World Health is successfully introducing modern family planning methods to hundreds of families in rural parts of the country.

The Pygmies in this area lead a basic lifestyle, usually adhering loyally to the traditional, mystical values of their ancestors. These villages are particularly resistant to adopting modern methods of birth control because they prefer the way their ancestors prevented unwanted pregnancies — involving the use of tree bark and other unproven traditional remedies. Because of this, pregnancies occur too close together and women’s bodies are overtaxed, increasing the likelihood of maternal mortality or injury during childbirth.

Through the USAID-funded Women’s Leadership Project, IMA uses social and behavior change communication methods to promote safer and more effective birth control practices. The goal is to change behaviors on the use of birth control by offering clear messages on encouraging adequate birth spacing, while reducing stigma against modern contraceptive practices.

IMA staff began to notice a surprising increase in the number of Pygmy women using new methods of birth control. Upon investigation, project staff learned that a local Pygmy woman — whom IMA had previously counseled — was championing the cause for modern contraceptives among her peers. Using her own first-hand experience, was actively spreading her message among her friends and neighbors. In her own words, which resonated with the men and women in her village, “The white contraceptive magic is very effective.”

Thanks to her efforts and encouraging support of the new family planning methods, now there is a waiting list in her village for contraceptives such as injectables, intrauterine devices (IUDs) and implants. As has been proven time and again, one person can make an enormous difference. IMA is grateful for and inspired by the boldness of this one woman whose conviction and courage are saving and improving the lives of others in her village.

Making a Difference!

Eastern Orientale Province
Haiti

Haiti has begun a new chapter in its story, in the wake of the massive 7.0-magnitude earthquake that wrought profound devastation in the country on January 12, 2010. There is an immense need for rebuilding Haiti’s infrastructure and meeting health care needs and IMA is proud to be a partner to the Ministry of Health, the Ministry of Education, donors, and other local partners in responding to health needs.

Envision Haiti NTD Control Program

This project is a joint effort of the Ministry of Health and Population (MSPP), the Ministry of Education (MENFP), and partners to eliminate and control lymphatic filariasis (LF) and soil transmitted helminths (STH) in Haiti. The project is a joint effort between partners and the MSPP and the MENFP to eliminate and control LF and STH in Haiti. USAID-funded support for IMA’s NTD work began in 2007 under the NTD Control Program (2006-2012) and continues under the ENVISION project (2011-2016) with IMA as a subgrantee to RTI.

Achievements

* Treat 4.8 million people annually for lymphatic filariasis and intestinal worms.
* Partnership with TOMS to distribute hundreds of thousands of new pairs of shoes to children in Haiti.

Community Effort in Haiti

Under the porch roof of a community building, Trifene Phaete keeps pace with the children running and playing around him as he directs the crowd at the busy community drug distribution post.

Trifene, 62, is one of almost 19,000 community volunteers who participate in the Haiti Neglected Tropical Disease Control program. He has been working with the program since 2008 and is currently serving more than 46,000 people in a municipality called Grande-Riviere-du-Nord in the north of Haiti.

He works with the Ministry of Health and Population (MSPP), IMA World Health and RTI International to distribute medicines to prevent neglected tropical diseases (NTDs) – specifically lymphatic filariasis (LF) and soil transmitted helminths (STH), such as hookworm. The program is a joint effort between partners and the MSPP and the Ministry of Education (MENFP) to eliminate and control LF and STH in Haiti. USAID support for NTD control began in 2007 under the NTD Control Program (2006-2012) and continues under RTI’s ENVISION project (2011-2016).

Members of the community like Trifene are vital to the success of the program. He is now training and managing a group of 44 volunteers from the area who are trusted and respected. If someone does not come to receive the medicine at a distribution point, a volunteer will visit their home to deliver the medicine. This level of dedication has helped Grande-Riviere-du-Nord reach incredible coverage rates, ranging between 92-95% annually.

This type of consistent coverage is needed to stop the spread of LF, which can cause extreme swelling in limbs and stigmatize those affected. “In the past you would see people with swollen legs in this area. Now you don’t,” Trifene says.
South Sudan

South Sudan became the world’s 196th country on July 9th, 2011, ending 50 long years of violent civil war in Sudan and as a result of this conflict, the delivery of health care services has suffered.

South Sudan remains in enormous need of health care infrastructure, medical supplies, and trained health care professionals to meet the needs of its people.

Rapid Response Health Project funded by World Bank

IMA was awarded the Rapid Results Health Project (RRHP), a performance-based contract from the Ministry of Health (MOH) in the Republic of South Sudan. As a key partner to the Ministry of Health (MOH), RRHP is being implemented in Upper Nile and Jonglei States, the country’s two largest states, with the objective of providing preventative and curative health care services to an estimated 3.1 million people.

Achievements
* In total, 26,399 children have received their final vaccination for diphtheria, pertussis, and tetanus (DPT3); 35,583 children received measles vaccinations; and 370,317 children received Vitamin A.
* In total, 214,412 children under the age of 5 have been provided with outpatient services.
* Reproductive Health Services: In total, 21,296 pregnant women attended their first antenatal care (ANC) visit with 10,213 pregnant women (approx. 50%) attending all four of the recommended number of visits for ANC.
* Delivery of essential medicines: 3 containers of essential medicine imported into South Sudan and distributed to 24 counties to supply all 284 health care facilities.

Anti-Malaria Nets
funded by Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis, and Malaria.

IMA is reducing the malaria burden in Jonglei and Upper Nile states of South Sudan through the distribution of Long Lasting Insecticide Treated Nets (LLINs) to vulnerable populations including pregnant women and children under five.

Program implementation led by PSI in conjunction with IMA World Health, MSF Belgium (MSF-B), MSF Holland (MSF-H), International Medical Corps (IMC) and Nile Hope Development Forum (NHDP) started in September 2011 and will continue through 2014.

Achievements
* As of June 2013 more than 1 million nets have been distributed.
* Supervision and Monitoring activities
* Coordination with National, State and County Ministry of Health
Daughter of a Refugee Makes an Impact in S. Sudan

Barbara Akita sits at a neat desk while poring through documents for the Rapid Results Health Project (RRHP), a program run by IMA World Health supporting millions of people in the Upper Nile and Jonglei States of South Sudan.

She isn’t a normal 9-5 office dweller. Her journey to IMA has taken many twists and turns, just like many of her South Sudanese colleagues.

Barbara’s father was driven from southern Sudan after fighting erupted in 1962. He found a new life in nearby Uganda, where Barbara was born. Her life took a new turn when her father became the Second Secretary of Commerce and supply for the Ugandan embassy in Egypt for a short time (1976-1979); then the family moved to England before eventually returning to Sudan. She graduated from high school in Sudan’s capital of Khartoum.

Desiring a career in public health, Barbara went to Nairobi, Kenya, for an undergraduate degree and then on to Switzerland to complete her master’s in international health. She is working on her thesis and will graduate this year.

As an IMA staff member, Barbara currently trains county officials how to effectively track and manage resources for the $26 million project—a vital, yet sometimes overlooked, part of health programs. She also ensures that supplies and medicine are tracked properly and that health officials in each county are properly trained to do their jobs to build a stable and sustainable health system.

“I feel happy seeing myself manage such a great responsibility,” said Barbara.

Barbara’s life has come full circle. It began when war divided Sudan; now the daughter of a refugee has returned to help care for the poor and vulnerable in her father’s birth country.

IMA’s Rapid Results Health Project (RRHP), funded by the World Bank, supports all 284 health facilities in Upper Nile and Jonglei states. Through the work of many like Barbara, the project has helped millions of people and continues to provide essential medicine and medical supplies to hospitals and clinics run by the local County Health Departments.

The Tukul is a traditional circular mud dwelling with a thatched roof commonly seen in South Sudan.
Tanzania

Tanzania is one of the most politically stable countries in Africa, and the country has shown significant economic growth in recent years. Along with this progress, access to health care is improving and IMA, in collaboration with partners, is implementing projects for neglected tropical diseases (NTDs), HIV/AIDS and non-communicable diseases such as Burkitt’s Lymphoma and cervical cancer.

NTD CONTROL PROGRAM funded by USAID

Through mass drug administration, IMA supports the Ministry of Health and Social Welfare (MOHSW) to control and eliminate five diseases (onchocerciasis, lymphatic filariasis, schistosomiasis, soil transmitted helminths and Trachoma) in Tanzania. The primary role for IMA is to provide financial management of funds and technical assistance to the MOHSW in evaluation, supervision, and programmatic support for neglected tropical disease-related activities.

Achievements
* More than 6.6 million people have been treated during the program.
* Trained more than 40,000 community members to carry out program activities.

LEAD PROJECT funded by Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

IMA is an implementing partner of the Local Partners Excel in Comprehensive HIV & AIDS Service Delivery (LEAD) Project. In four regions in Tanzania (Mara, Mwanza, Manyara, and Tanga) IMA works with local partners to provide HIV care and antiretroviral treatment.

Achievements
* 6,942 new patients enrolled in HIV Palliative Care; this includes both antiretroviral therapy (ART) and non-ART care.
* 5,786 patients were started on ART

Tanzania Burkitt’s Lymphoma Program

Burkitt’s Lymphoma (BL) is an aggressive childhood cancer affecting young children in malaria endemic areas. In partnership with the Ocean Road Cancer Institute, IMA has been working to combat BL and complement the National Cancer Treatment Program. IMA provides access to chemotherapeutic drugs and diagnosis and case management training for various cadres of health care personnel.

Achievements
* Provided training for 480 health care personnel and students in BL-specific diagnosis and case management to aid in the early detection of BL.
* Over 200 children were treated for BL through chemotherapy drugs.

Cervical Cancer Prevention and Control funded by Izumi Foundation, IMA member agencies, and the CDC

IMA is partnering with Shirati KMT Hospital to roll out a pilot program to improve access to quality cervical cancer care and treatment services in the Mara Region. IMA is addressing training needs in early diagnosis and treatment in order to successfully screen women. In addition, IMA is working with the Shirati KMT Hospital to build community awareness of cervical cancer risks and successful treatment results to promote screening and treatment.

Achievements
* Provided cervical cancer screenings for 1,464 women; of those screened, 101 tested VIA positive (7%) with 28 of those women transferred to Bugando Medical Center to receive treatment for their late stage diagnosis.
* In total, 11 health care providers were trained on how to screen for cervical cancer and provide cryotherapy treatment.
Cervical Cancer Screening in TZ

Tanzania has one of the highest concentrations of cervical cancer in the world and IMA World Health is committed to improving early detection and treatment.

IMA currently implements cervical cancer programs in two established health facilities in Tanzania. Due to the growing need for cervical cancer screening and treatment services in the rural areas surrounding these two health facilities, IMA also engages in community outreach activities to provide cervical cancer screening and treatment through at local sites.

On June 6, 2013, IMA provided an outreach campaign for HIV testing as well as cervical cancer screening and treatment at Tarime District Hospital, a smaller health facility on the outskirts of the Mara Region near the Kenyan border. Originally scheduled for two days with a target of screening 150 women, the event was extended to three days because the turnout far exceeded expectations. In total, 560 women were screened for cervical cancer through this three-day campaign. Of those screened, 15 were diagnosed with precancerous lesions and received cryotherapy treatment the same day.

Nyafuru, a participant at the cervical cancer screening at Tarime District Hospital, is a 31-year-old mother for four from the town of Nyamongo. Though most people prefer to go to health clinics within walking distance from their home, Nyafuru was determined to be screened and paid 5,000 TSH (approximately $3.00) to get to the screening at Tarime District Hospital. Nyafuru also brought two friends from her village with her so they could all be screened the same day. In addition to cervical cancer screening, Nyafuru was also offered and agreed to be tested for HIV. She was happy to receive a clean bill of health.

Nyafuru is the mother of four children – three boys and one girl. When asked whether she would vaccinate her daughter against HPV, the virus that causes cervical cancer, she stated, “Yes, that is the preferred prevention method for my child to be protected from cervical cancer.” When asked her thoughts on her experience, she remarked, “Please keep coming to help us, because we need this service here in Tarime.”

560 women traveled long distances to participate in the three day cervical cancer screening. 15 of them were diagnosed with precancerous lesions and treated that day.
Global Programs
IMA World Health, a specialist in providing essential health-care services and medical supplies around the world, is a faith-founded, technical health organization working to restore health, hope and dignity to those most in need. We work primarily in the developing world, where an estimated 30 to 70 percent of health care is provided by faith-based organizations. IMA is an international health organization that is widely recognized for its effective and careful use of resources.

Procurement/Gift in Kind funded by corporate partners, member agencies, private donors
For over 50 years, IMA has provided people in need with essential medicines and medical supplies through our in-kind donation or direct procurement programs. We are committed to the highest standards when providing appropriate, top quality products in response to the health care needs of the recipient country.
Achievements
* Delivered $6,867,120 worth of medicine and supplies to projects and partners around the world.

Safe Motherhood Kit (TM)
funded by corporate partners and private donors
IMA World Health’s Safe Motherhood Kits™ provide clean and sterile birthing supplies to expectant mothers in developing countries – areas where infant and maternal mortality rates are among the highest in the world. Too often, unsafe and unsanitary birthing conditions are to blame.

Achievements
* Distributed 3,500 Safe Motherhood Kits™
* Kits were distributed in Democratic Republic of the Congo

Our growing Safe Motherhood Kit(TM) program is gaining momentum!

Sermon Guides funded by IMA member agencies
The primary function of a sermon guide is to provide the faith community the capacity to educate their congregation on health issues by linking evidence-based messaging and scripture.

* Created a Water, Sanitation and Hygiene Sermon guide for distribution in Kenya.
On April 27th, more than 150 people gathered at the warehouse at IMA World Health’s headquarters in New Windsor, Maryland, to volunteer for “SMK Day 2013.” The goal was to pack 4,000 Safe Motherhood Kits™ (SMKs) in four hours.

After a fast-paced morning working in shifts, the volunteers easily surpassed the goal, packing more than 4,300 SMKs with essential clean and sterile birthing supplies. These items included a plastic sheet, an absorbent underpad, surgical gloves, gauze pads, a sterile umbilical tie and scalpel, soap, a washcloth and a baby layette. This set of simple but essential items help to prevent maternal infection and support maternal and newborn child health in developing countries and disaster zones. When SMK Day assembly lines reached capacity, other volunteers got busy cutting plastic sheeting to size, folding baby blankets and preparing boxes of SMKs for shipment around the world.

In his fiscal year, more than 3,500 SMKs were distributed to IMA partner clinics in the DR Congo to help reduce maternal mortality.

“What a great group of volunteers,” said Rick Santos, President and CEO of IMA World Health. “We had high schoolers, Rotarians, Kiwanians, local business owners, college students, churches, health care workers and many others – such a diverse group of caring people, all working together to help people in need. We were encouraged by the turnout and the dedication of the community rallying around this project.”

A special thanks to sponsors and volunteers for joining together to make a great impact for expectant mothers and their babies! IMA is already looking forward to the next SMK Day on May 3rd, 2014.

Kits can be delivered by boat, car or small airplane depending on the location of the clinic!

Efficiency

For Every dollar spent at IMA in 2013...

- 93¢ went to Program Services
- 7¢ went to General Administration
- less than 1¢ went to Fundraising

*A large gift-in-kind donation expected to arrive in fiscal year 2013 was not received until fiscal year 2014. This delay accounts for the decrease in Donated Inventory Shipped between fiscal years 2012 and 2013.
Because of you we’ve been able to...

Provide Health, Healing and well-being to so many!
